

VISIT EALING
A Guide to the Borough

Pitzhanger Manor

- This beautiful Georgian manor house was designed and lived in by Sir John Soane, architect of the Bank of England.
- It has been renovated and reopened in recent years, and also hosts temporary art exhibitions.
- Find out more at https://www.pitzhanger.org.uk/.

Walpole Park

- At the back of Pitzhanger Manor is Walpole Park, a beautiful green space with a pond, stream, café and children's play area.
- In the summer, the park is host to Ealing Beer Festival.

London Transport Museum Depot

- The LTM depot in Acton is host to numerous Underground carriages, buses, trams and other artefacts from London's transport history.
- There is also a miniature railway!
- Regular open days happen throughout the year.
- Find out more at https://www.ltmuseum.co.uk/visit/museum-depot.

Hanwell Zoo

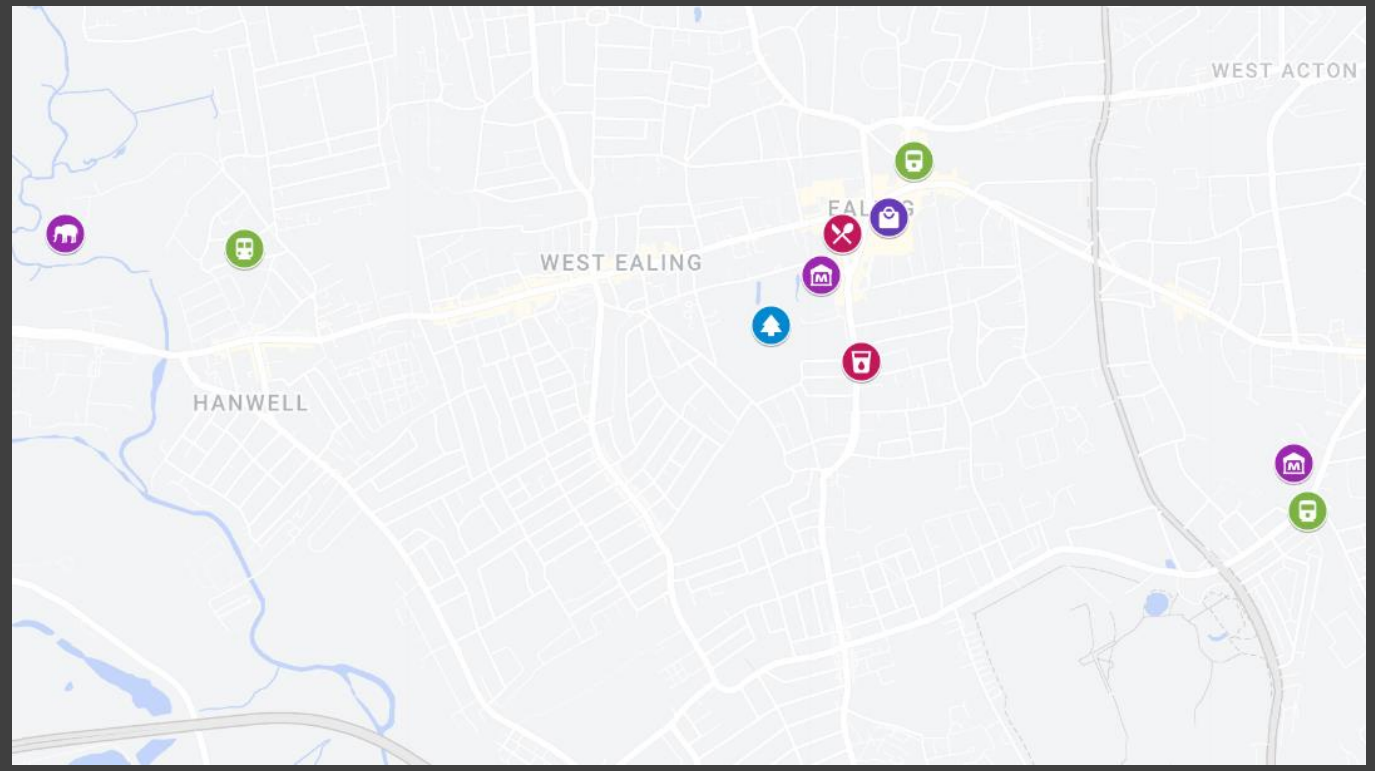

- Hanwell Zoo is home to a variety of animals including flamingos, meerkats, miniature donkeys and lemurs.
- Find out more at https://hanwellzoo.co.uk/.

Eating, Drinking and Shopping

- Ealing Broadway is the best location to find good food and drink in Ealing. There are a variety of restaurants available, from familiar chains to independent eateries, and an impressive variety of pubs. Some of the best places to go include:
  - The Red Lion: traditional British pub with connections to Ealing Studios
  - Santa Maria Pizzeria: Authentic Neapolitan pizza which has been called London's best

- Ealing Broadway Shopping Centre: there are lots of restaurants in and around this shopping centre, and it's also great for, well, shopping.

Getting There

- Ealing is in West London: the most central station is Ealing Broadway, on the Central, District and Elizabeth lines, but Acton Town station (on the Piccadilly line) and Hanwell mainline station are best for the LTM depot and Hanwell Zoo respectively.
